It is the duty of every Republican and Libera'-Independent member of Congress now in the city to remain here, so as to be in his place in the House on Tuesday morning next. We can state positively that dispatches have been received from a sufficient number of absentees, so that, with those now here, there will be at least 147 Republicans and Liberals, who will be able to frustrate the designs of the Democrats in the contested election their seats by fraud and intimidation should give way to those who are the honest choice of the people.

The Pennsylvania Republicans appear that the voters of the party shall elect delegates to a new convention, which body shall nominate a ticket on which all shall unite. That this will harmonize all who have any intention of hereafter acting with the Republican party there is little cause to doubt. The Independents, who sincerely believed that the voice of the majority had not been heard at Harrisburg when the Beaver ticket was nominated, have been honest in their protest against it. They were giving their support to the Stewart ticket on this ground. They now see Stewart & Co. backing down from their lofty attitude of being the choice of the great majority, and admitting that they only claim followers enough to give the Democrats a plurality by withholding their votes from Beaver. They say they will not abide by the voice of the majority, honestly ascertained under rules of their own devising. This is simply raising the black flag of the pirate. They say they can kill the Republican party unless it obeys their will. They say they will agree to no new convention unless it shall be first agreed that the majority shall not nominate Beaver. This what the candidates of the Independents say, and so says the chairman of the Independent State committee. So will not say their followers. At this line they will separate. Majority rule is the essence of Republicanism. The complaint was of having to fight a machine, When that is offered to be taken out of the way the new and insolent cry that the majority cannot be trusted is of unadulterated political scoundrelism. Honest men so situated would say they wanted to break up the party, for that is all there is of it. The best evidence that the destructives are not going to carry their followers into the outer darkness is found in the following from the Phila-

But it is of the highest importance to all present interests and to the future well being of the party that every question shall be treated with entire fairness and practical wisdom. The strength of any case which is to last and which is to stand the of examination lies in its inherent truth and justice. It must be recognized in all reason that it is not the right of any committee or of any body of men to limit the Republican party in its selection of candidates. The claim that the free choice of the party may be restricted cannot be sustained upon any logical grounds. It is equally untenable whether asserted by a boss for personal ends or by an honest committee with high motives. Once make it clear that you have accured a free party—a party free from bossism and governed by popular rule—and who is war-ranted in putting transmels upon its free-The State committee, which calls conventions, cannot assume to distranchise men to withdraw as a candidate or to decline buing a candidate. But that is a question for his own sense of duty and for his own feeling as to his opportunity. And it is equally a question for the pary whether it will nominate any particular candidate. We have thought it was wire to call and to accept a new convention, because we have present circumstances and appreciating its re-sponsibility, would be rescomive to enlightened public sentiment, would reflect the real will of the Republican masses, and would lead the way to neighbor is preying upon a weaker one.

ous. The press has been opposed to the influences that prevailed at Harrisburg. But it speaks for nine-tenths of its associates when it refuses to adopt the black flag with "rule or ruin" inscribed upon it.

The Political Outlook in Arkansas. From the proceedings of the recent State conventions of Greenbackers, Democrats, and Republicans, and from other sources of information, we gather that while there is considerable dissatisfaction in the ranks of the Democracy, a split has been carefully avoided on the debt question by the adoption of a go-as-youplease resolution on that subject, declaring it no test of any man's Democracy whether he favors the proposed repudiation amendment to the constitution, as the great majority of the Democrats of that State do, or whether, like the senior United States Senator from that State and a very respectable minority of the party, he may oppose the amendment. The leading Democratic organ at the State capital, the Gazette, is now controlled in the interest of those opposed to the amendment, and this paper, while supporting the State ticket, spits contemptuously upon the platform, and has declared that it would not have sup ported the amendment even if the State convention had so commanded.

The Gazette approves the resolution of the Republican convention upon the debt question, emphatically repudiating repudiation; agrees that "a free ballot and a fair count" is necessary to the perpetuity of a republican government; admits that the Democracy have been justly chargeable with "outrages on the ballotbox" in some instances, but claims they have not been countenanced or supported by their party, and gives a fair summary of the admitted high character of each of the Republican nominees.

The Greenbackers of Arkansas left three vacancies on their State ticket, and one of their nominees has declined. The Republicans made no nomination for Congress-at-large, which we regard as the course of wisdom, and the nominee for State auditor, Captain McClintock, has declined. This leaves a possible opening for a coalition of all the Liberal Democrats who are opposed to frauds on the ballot-box, and who repudiate repudiation, the Greenbackers, who have already been organized and arrayed at the polls in opposition to the Democracy in several State contests, with the Republicans, the field with a State ticket. In such a combination we should join with our most hearty sympathies, and trust that the Greenback leader in the State, Hon. Rufus K. Garland, would follow his patriotic impulses into the campaign with a vigor which would crown him as the Mahone of Arkansas with deserved success, and with a position where his acknowledged talent and ability would be useful to the people of his State. The Republicans will secure in such a combination certain fruits of victory, which would bring Arkansas once more into harmony with the National Admin istration, and secure the defeat of the proposed amendment to repudiate a cases. These cases should be settled arge portion of the State debt. The Rewithout delay, and it is the duty of the publican convention appointed a State Republicans to see that those who hold Central Committee, composed largely of young, energetic, but well-known Republican workers, among whom we notice ex-Senator Clayton and his brother, who is now sheriff of Jefferson County; United Brightening Skies in Pennsylvania. States Marshal Torrans, who has been selected as chairman of the committee; J. A. to be pretty certain to harmonize. The Barnes, of Union, and C. M. Barnes, of Seregulars propose that all the candidates bastian, brothers of Major Lucien J. on both the tickets shall withdraw, and Barnes, of the Treasury Department service. Six members of the State Centra Committee were delegates to the Chicago convention, and their solidity on that occasion is a guaranty of future success in the political campaigns of Arkansas. We shall keep our readers posted upon the progress of the present contest in Arkansas. The State election takes place on Monday, September 4 next, the election for Congressmen in November. ALBEADY the Post is at work defending the Tennessee repudiators. It declares that the gubernatorial nominee, General Bate, recently gave "weighty reasons" for the disgraceful attitude assumed by by the low-tax Bourbons. General Bate is said to be laboring with the National Democratic Committee for funds. To this Eastern Democrats generally will strenuously object. The Democracy of Tennessee have divided forever. The State-cradit candidates will poll not less than thirty thousand votes. The election of Hawkins, the Republican candidate, is assured. The legislature will be anti-Bourbon, Had Senator Harris maintained his position as a State-credit Democrat he might have held the balance of power in the legislature, and at least prevented the election of an enemy. the party demand overcame him, and he is now floundering in an element unnatural to him.

THE House spent three hours yester day wrangling over the amount Congress should pay to the surgeons who attended upon President Garfield from the time he was shot until he died. Some favored the payment of one sum and some auother, ranging all the way from one hundred thousand dollars to nothing, What a pitiable and humiliating exhibition to be made before our own country and the world! If those gentlemen who so freely expressed themselves in debate yesterday against an honorable recognition by Congress of the services of the distinguished physicians who attended upon the President during his sufferings could see the expression of the people through the press on this subject they would withdraw their captious opposition and have an end to what is getting to be both unseemly and disgusting.

Ture Nation and the people will of course extend a hearty welcome to President Barrios, of the Republic of Guatemala. The pleasant obligations of hospitality will not necessitate any embarrassment in giving our visitor to understand, if he broaches the subject, as it is or disquality any Republican who is eligible un-der the Constitution. This is plain with a little thought to any apprehension, and nothing is to be gained for the cause of truth and right by shutting the grouping or confederation of independent republics to the south of us. nor to rectify the boundaries between States in which we can have no possible concern. Our new railroad interests in Mexico are to create commercial interests which will give us every motive for maintaining the present friendly relafelt that such a convention, elected under the tions with that country. Mr. Rollins called up the resolution for the daily meeting of the Senate at 11 a. m., on and after Monday next. Mr. Pendleton moved that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Appropriations though Mr. Harris suggested that the Finance committe would be the proper reference, inas-nuch as the internal tax bill was the measure which at present would consume most of the time of the Senate. After debate the Presiding Officer declared that the discussion was irregular.

The Presiding Officer—Yes, sir.

Mr. Ingails—The Chair is not bound, I suppose, by the ordinary rules of courtesy. If the Chair means to assume by the expression "catechiam" that I have no right to interrogate the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations as to the condition of the public business, I beg to differ with the Chair.

The Presiding Officer—The Senator did not address the Chair, but commenced interrogating the Senator from I lowa.

Mr. Pendleion withdrew his motion, and Mr. Rollins' resolution was adopted.

Mr. Logan, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported the pension appropriation bill, and it was ordered printed and laid over for future action.

It was ordered printed and laid over for future action.

The Committee on Appropriations recommend the adoption of several amendments, the most important of which are those prohibiting the paysinest of double pensions, and directing the paysinest of double pensions, and directing the Secretary of the interior to transmit annually to Congress a list of persons borne on the person rolls, together with the amount paid to each.]

Mr. Hill, of Colorado, from the Committee on Post-Offices and Post-Roads, reported tack the bill to punish postmisters for making false certificates of the arrival and departure of mails. Finced on the calendar.

The Senate then devoted itself for an hour to the consideration of pension bills, a number of which were passed, among them one interessing the pension of Elizabeth C. Custer, widow of General George A. Custer, to 500 per month, and one in House bill granting a pension of Spiper month to letty Taylor Dandridge, daughter of President Taylor. A Hone-pension bill was amended by the adoption of a general provision prohibiting the payment of double pensions.

At 215 the Senate resumed the consideration of the tax bill, the Boor being accorded to Mr. Bay ard.

The Presiding Officer announced the appointment of Messrs. Hale, Allison, and Cockeel as conferees on the general deficiency bill.

The Senate them (at 5:15) went into executive session, and when the doors were reopened adjourned until to-day.

House of Representatives. Ar. Page moved to take from the Speaker's table for the purpose of a non-concurrence in the Senate amendments the river and narior appropriation bill, but Mr. McCook stated that he would rake the point of order that those amendments must be first considered in Committee of the too bill, but Mr. McCook stated that he would rules the point of order that those amendments must be first considered in Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Page thereupon withdrew his motion.

The marning hour having been dispensed with, the House proceeded to the consideration of the remaining Senate amendments to the general deficiency appropriation bill which had not been nonconcurred in yesterday. The large majority of them were nonconcurred in. Few of them gave rise to any discussion except that appropriating $35,000 for the payment of mileage to senators who attended the special session of the Senate convended on October 19, 1881.

Mr. Townshend, of Illinois, characterized this amendment as a "little salary grab," and hoped that the House conferens, when appointed, would not yield to the Senate.on that point.

Mr. Hisock, for the purpose of testing the wish of the House, moved to concur in the amendment, and this motion having been voted down by a heavy majority, stated that the committee of conference would take that vote as an instruction that it should never yield the point. "Never!" rejeated several members; but Mr. Robinson, of Massachusetts, protexted against any such construction being placed upon the vote.

So the amendment was nonconcurred in.

A long debate then ensued on the Senate amendment to pay the expenses of the Garfield illness, which was nonconcurred in.

Mr. Taylor then asked and obtained uranimous consent to report a bill directing the Secretary of the Ireasury to pay to Lucrotta R. Garfield, widow of the late President Garfield, $50,000, less any aum paid to him on account of his salary as President. The bill was read, and was passed unanimously.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the Senate amendments to the river and harbor bill; but as the amendments were not printed the committee rose without action on them, and they were ordered printed.

Mr. Bowman called up the bill reported from the Committee of Crisis for investigation, and it was passed.

EVENING SESSION.

The House, at its evening session, agreed to the Senate amendments to the House bill granting a pension to Augustus Miller. This amendment prohibits the payment of double pensions.

Pension bills were then passed to the number of forty—among them the Senate bill granting an increase of pension to the widow of General George A. Custer. Custer.

The House also passed bills granting seventy five condemned cannon for monumental purpose. And then the House (at 19 o'clock) adjourned until to-day.

For Senator Pendleton to Read, The Democratic party never make any assessments. Oh, no! They are civil-service reformers, they are! The following from the local columns of the Baltimore San will show that the Democracy depends entirely upon pure patriotism to keep depends entirely upon pure parriotism to keep their party organization intact:

Reference was minde a few days ago in the Sun to the action of the executive committee of the old Democratic city convention in sending around printed circulars to city efficials stating the amount each was expected to give to aid in carrying on the coming fail campaign, and of objection being made thereto. The main objection was as to the authority of the committee to make such assessments, it being claimed that the matter should be left to the new executive committee to be selected in the fall; also that the assessments, amounting to about 2 per cent, were too large. Mr. Morris A. Thomas, chalman of the executive committee, and Mr. John P. Foe, city counsellor, were in the mayor's office yesterday when the matter as to the authority of the committee was brought up, and both the mayor and Mr. Thomas said such right was vested in the committee was brought up, and both the mayor and Mr. Thomas said such right was vested in the committee was brought up, and both the mayor and Mr. Thomas said such right was vested in the committee was brought up, and both the mayor and Mr. Thomas said such right was vested in the committee was brought up, and both the mayor and Mr. Thomas said such right was vested in the committee was brought up, and both the present executive committee take the necessary preliminary steps to prepare for the coming campaign and arrange the details for its conduct."

J. G. Bennett Going to Alexandria. their party organization intact:

J. G. Bennett Going to Alexandria. The steam yacht Namouns, owned by James jordon Bennett, arrived at Constantinople at noon yesterday. A private dispatch to Mr. Gard-ner G. Howland stated that all on board were well. The party consists of Mr. Bennett, Mr. Charles The party consists of Mr. Bennett, Mr. Charles Longfellow, and Messrs. Isaac Townsend, George Poliock, Winnie Gray, Jamieson, and Chamberlain. The Namouna, with the exception of two or three days, when it blew a heavy gale, had a pleasant pussage to the Canaries. The yacht behaved very well, and displayed fine weatherly qualities. She left New York on the morning of June 6, making 153 miles on that day. The next eleven days runs were as follows: 270 miles, 207, 2005, 2713, 2823, 283, 281, 289, 2694, 276, and 186 miles more brought the Namouna to the Canaries. Here she remained for three days, and then paid a flying visit to the Madeiras. Anchor was next dropped at Gibraltar. Two or three ports were vasited in the Mediciran. The Namouna was expected to start for Alexandria in a day or two.—New York Sun.

A Wonderful Feat.
A little incident of the bombardment of Alexandria will interest many readers of newspapers more than the bombardment itself. It is the fact more than the bombardment itself. It is the fact, related in one of the dispatches, that by means of a telephone the bombardment was distinctly heard at Malta, 1,000 mices from the scene of action. It is perfectly possible to binagine such an improvement and extension of the telephone that a bombardment in the Mediterranean may be heard in London, and even in New York; and the time may be coming when Emeson's bold metaphor of the "embattled farmers" who "Fired the shot heard round the world" may be reduced to literal and prosale fact.

Be Careful. It appears that the Deiroit Free Frees is cribbing stories of the war from "Moore's Rebellion Re-cord," published from 1861 to 1805, and giving so "Earning his Shoulderstraps," dent at Fort Wagner where a sergeant of the Federal Army "paced an opening to get the distance," dc., is a sample. Papers who copy M. Quad's selections ought to see to it that credit is given the proper source. The Only Lune.
